

The client is a Chartered Accountancy firm specializing in company formation, and providing accounting and legal support to companies.

CONTEXT

The client is a Chartered Accountancy firm specializing in company formation, and providing accounting and legal support to companies. The client envisioned a portal that would allow them to sell their services packages online, and provision the services to its customers via the Portal. The primary functionality required was to automate the name search, application and formation of new companies via the Portal, such that end users could request the formation of a new company, and our clients staff could manage the company process online.

SOLUTION

Baryons provided a Portal and workflow application to meet the requirements of the client. The web application was integrated with Companies House (the company affairs authority of UK) via web services API, to achieve company name search, application, receipt of incorporation certificate, name change of company and several other incorporation and compliance requirements. For the end user the business flow of purchasing a company formation service, providing company and stakeholder details, and receiving the certificate of incorporation (or other certificates) from companies house was made available online. For the client's staff, the process of managing orders, reviewing and modifying applications, and finally submitting them to Companies House for processing was made available online.

HIGHLIGHTS

- Baryons collaborated with the 3rd Parties involved to understand the business flows that could be automated, understand available web services, and implement and test the integration. This required several rounds of discussion and testing with Companies House test servers to achieve flawless integration.
- Baryons consulted the client in identifying the business flows that would be most suitable for them and enabled a quick and smooth transition to the web
